USE OF 3D PRINTERS POLICY. Mr. Craig moved and Mr. Hattenburg seconded approval of the new Use of 3D Printers policy. Ms. Ledeboer noted development of the new policy was necessary because of budget implications and cost recovery of materials and software. The policy also addressed standards and timelines for printing. In response to Trustee Craig’s question, Deputy Director Patrick Roewe said printing is allowed only during library hours to ensure safety and to have staff available for troubleshooting when needed. In response to Trustee Johnson, Library Services Manager Gwendolyn Haley said although the cost of 3D printers has gone down dramatically, for now the District will have only one printer located at Spokane Valley Library. Time required by staff and member interest will be assessed during the pilot program. Mr. Roewe added that perhaps long-term, the unit could become a mobile makerspace. Printing projects will be accepted starting in October.

There were no further questions.

The motion was unanimously approved.

SPOTLIGHT SPOKANE VALLEY LIBRARY

Managing Librarian Aileen Luppert welcomed the Board of Trustees to Spokane Valley Library and introduced Community Librarian Diane Brown. With support of PowerPoint, Ms. Luppert showed historic photos of the library. Established in 1955 as the first District library, it also housed the administrative offices. Ms. Luppert reviewed data for Spokane Valley, which has approximately 36,000 registered borrowers, 28,000 visitors per month, and has already had 52,348 Internet station bookings this year. The library offered 623 programs attended by 14,355 people, an attendance increase of 4 percent.

To Develop Young Learners, one of the four service priorities of the Community Impact Plan, 371 Storytimes attended by 9,177 participants have been offered. All Storytimes are of the Play and Learn variety. Popular play items include the new kitchen set added this year, a castle with puppets, a drawing station, and heavily used block table. A third session of Prime Time Family Reading will begin in October. Broadway Elementary is a partner for this family reading and dinner program that emphasizes the importance of families reading together. Explore and Discover programs include “Too Fun Tuesday” for all ages. Participants can build with blocks and other materials, create art, use LEGOs or attend LEGO Club, play cards and board games, or attend a Pokémon Tournament. Life-sized games are offered for teens. Book Club is held at the library and Broadway Court Estates Retirement Community. Staff also attends Orchard Crest Retirement Community to offer help with electronic devices. In support of Job Seekers and Local Business, staff attended the Hiring Heroes Job Fair and brought along a computer lab to enable participants to edit and print resumes. They also partnered with the local alternative Mica Peak (formerly Barker) High School to offer School to Life skill-building sessions to students. A second senior project via Spokane Valley Tech Business and Entrepreneurship program will be offered. Book a Librarian appointments are also offered for help with job searches. Ms. Brown shared a story about providing assistance with a job application for which the applicant was granted an interview. To Connect with Community, staff is involved with the Spokane Valley Chamber of Commerce—Sheree West is an ambassador and attends Business Education Committee meetings. Ms. Brown regularly attends City Council and Transportation Committee meetings, and Ms. Luppert recently participated in the Big Five Stakeholder meetings. Staff also connects through presentations about library services provided throughout the year to a variety of groups and service organizations. Other upcoming highlights to name only a few include a potential book club at Mica Peak, Thursday Night Thing (modeled after Fairfield), Pajama Storytime with local authors, Saturday Career Lab, and Love Your Neighborhood, with focus on Spokane Valley. Ms. Ledeboer noted that Ms. Luppert is scheduled to give a presentation on library services to Spokane Valley City Council on October 20. Trustees expressed appreciation for the informative report. There was no further discussion.

OVERVIEW USE OF 3D PRINTERS/PRINTING SERVICE

Library Services Manager Gwendolyn Haley, Librarian Diane Brown, and Public Services Specialist Aaron Miller provided an overview of a new library service, use of a 3D printer. Ms. Haley provided the genesis of this program, which included an inquiry, subsequent demo and scheduled classes taught by member Andrew Jorgenson, for which there was much interest. As part of our mission to inspire learning, advance knowledge, and connect communities, this new service provides opportunities to explore, learn, and create by using relevant technology and software tools for which 3D printing, considered the third industrial revolution, is part. The District selected its vendor based on Hayden Community Library’s experience. Initially printer prices were exorbitant, yet costs have come down significantly to allow us to purchase a printer near the top of the line for approximately $2,000. Although many schools have printers, they are not widely accessible. The library’s printer will be available to not only students and hobbyists, but also entrepreneurs for 25 cents per cubic centimeter. Several free CAD instructional programs are available for training. Mr. Miller made the printer available for demonstration and described what happens when a file is uploaded. The machine operates at 220 degrees Celsius, hence the reason for it being contained in a clear, yet locked container. For now the printer will be located at Spokane Valley Library in a public area to help raise awareness of the new service. Designated staff who are champions of the printer and service will be scheduled accordingly for someone to always be available to provide assistance. For 3D printer training, a new database offered by the library, lynda.com, has online tutorials, and classes are planned for 2016. Discussion ensued as various small 3D printouts were shared around the room. Trustees expressed appreciation for the informative report. There was no further discussion.
