October programs explore creative arts, offer author talks, memory care, Shred Day

Spokane, WA | September 21, 2022 – Spokane County Library District offers a wide array of programs in October for adults to explore, learn, create, and thrive.

Shred Day is back at North Spokane and Spokane Valley Libraries, along with other financial workshops to help you stay on top of estate planning, retirement, and Medicare.

You can explore creative arts and leisure activities at the library, including blacksmithing, lace tatting, cyanotypes, and photography.

Gardeners can get the dirt on Seed Saving so they can plant their favorites again next season. If you enjoy eating jerky, you can learn to make your own during Jerky Making Basics.

SCLD brings you some wonderful author talks—including co-sponsoring Spokane Is Reading author Kate Lebo—and information sessions about dyslexia and caring for loved ones who are experiencing memory loss.

If you speak and/or read Spanish or are learning to, then you'll want to check out our Spanish-language programs, which include business workshops and a book club.

The Lab at North Spokane Library is hosting creative and STEM programs, including weekly Maker Open Hours. Explore our photography and video equipment and editing software at The Studio at Spokane Valley Library during Drop-in Hours each week. Also at Spokane Valley Library, you can stop by for 3D Printing Drop-in Hours to learn about our 3D printing technology and the software it uses.

Take time to try something new! Learn more and sign up today for these programs at www.sclcd.org/adults-oct-2022.
